

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

1 An adhesive shelf talker is provided with upper and lower end portions that are selectively separable from one another. The upper end portion provides non-promotional product information, while the lower end portion provides the promotional 5 information for the product. A two-part release liner is provided so that the upper end portion may adhere to a shelf edge while leaving the lower end portion of the shelf talker, which hangs below the shelf, unexposed.
